

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a method for recognizing a name card by a mobile phone having a camera. There is a lot of inconveniences to manually input contents into a name card in a conventional art. The present s invention discloses a method for recognizing the contents of a name card using a camera attached to a mobile phone.